The Innovative Hand Soap

leTabs is a dermatologically tested product designed, developed and made in Italy using components of the highest quality that guarantee a comfortable experience in a simple gesture like washing your hands.

8 grams of compressed soap to dilute in water; while dissolving, the tabs release the cosmetic components turning simple tap water in foaming and perfumed hand soap. The foaming dispenser guarantees the right amount of product is released with every pump.

The commonly used liquid hand soap is made up of 90% water, requiring the use of water-resistant plastic packagings, that are discarded with each new purchase.

Thanks to LeTabs technology, it is finally possible to cut water from the process and add it right before use. By transporting the cosmetic components only, and in compressed format, transport costs and environmental impact are at once drastically reduced.

Ethical and cruelty-free - there is no sense in harming others for self-gain.

We love Nature and its ability to provide plants that heal. We are strongly against animal testing and have never tested any of our products on animals. We choose to test on human skin in our dermatological testing protocol, and strive to only use ingredients that do not need to be tested on animals.

Using the finest natural and organic ingredients, we work on our formulations to ensure that they never contain harsh chemicals. Our intention is to treat all skin as sensitive and precious. Because our skincare products are packed with biologically-active ingredients, we know that our products nurture and nourish the skin, maintaining a healthy, natural balance. We value the activity of the endocrine system, and know that what we put on our skin can either support or break down this vital biological system. We avoid all estrogen-mimicking chemicals and plastics that might otherwise harm your endocrine system. We believe that sustainability is a key part of skin management, which is why we choose ingredients that are aligned with your health and functionality for the long term.

Swiss Perfection - Upgraded Formulas

CELLULAR PERFECT MEN

Genetically different and daily exposed to climatic factors and repeated shaving, men's skin has uniquely specific needs, facing slow regeneration when confronted with everyday aggression. It is vulnerable to stress and has a slower renewal rate. It is also thicker and requires lighter, water-based textures. Thanks to high-concentration formulas and lightweight textures based on latest technologies, Swiss Perfection Cellular Men offers intensive deep-down regeneration and daily hydration benefits, together with the best protection against premature aging. The skin's healing process is boosted and stressed skin deeply relaxed.

CELLULAR PERFECT LIFT

With time, the epidermis becomes thinner and more fragile. The natural renewal process slows down and the skin is no longer able to ensure basic functions. It faces natural physiological and hormonal aging as well as extensive internal damage that leaves the dermis highly exposed to external stress factors. Wrinkles form due to high oxidation and to collagen and elastin breakdown, resulting in loss of firmness and elasticity. The number of fibroblast cells that produce new elastin and collagen fibers decreases significantly and the skin loses precious resources. Highly concentrated in biotechnological ingredients based on Cellular Therapy protocols, Swiss Perfection Cellular Perfect Lift provides natural skin lifting benefits by working deep within the dermis to boost the production and repair the damage of collagen and elastin fibers. Visibly erasing wrinkles and fighting sagging skin, it delivers intense redensifying and firming action.
